ATTENTION ALL FROSH, SOPHOMORES, JUNIORS, AND SENIORS!

Thinking about graduate school or your future career?

If yes, then attend this summer’s

Whitney Workshop Series

Evening Workshops

Where: 153 Noyes, building #72 on the Caltech map.
When: Tuesdays @ 6:30 pm, A light dinner will be available for the first 80 attendees.

JUNE 23

Decisions, Decisions!
Is graduate school for me? Should I pursue a Ph.D. or Master’s degree? How do I choose a school? Should I work first? A panel of guests who once asked themselves these same questions will talk about their own decision-making process.

JUNE 30

What Do Faculty Look for in a Grad School Applicant?
A panel of Caltech faculty will discuss what they look for in qualified graduate school applicants. They will discuss characteristics of a strong personal statement, attributes of qualified graduate students, and other insightful information that illuminates what makes one applicant more qualified than another.

JULY 7

Letters of Recommendation
Candace Rypisi, from Caltech’s SFP office, will provide an in-depth look into what you can do at any stage of your academic career to help secure great letters of recommendation.

JULY 14

The Do’s and Don’ts of Graduate School Essays
Whether it is a personal statement or a statement of purpose, graduate school essays are a core part of your application process. Mandy Casani, from Caltech’s Career Development Center, will review the do’s and don’ts for preparing a strong essay.

JULY 21

Setting Yourself Up for Success! How to Take Full Advantage of College to Get the Future You Want!
Thinking about your future? Do you plan to apply to graduate school, work in industry, or start your own business? It is never too early to begin taking steps towards your future goals. James Berk, from Caltech’s Career Development Center, will discuss the things you should be doing throughout your undergraduate career to successfully prepare for your future endeavors post-undergrad.

Lunch Workshops

Where: 147 Noyes, building #72 on the Caltech map.
When: Thursdays @ 12:00 pm, Lunch will be served. MUST SIGN UP FOR LUNCH WORKSHOPS.

JUNE 25

Networking for the Introvert
Building a strong network is key to succeeding within your career. However, these skills do not come naturally to all personality types. In this talk, James Berk will discuss ways for introverts to network effectively, while still remaining within their comfort areas.
Sign-up: https://www.surveymonkey.com/s/CDCSFP0625

JULY 2

What Are Your Transferrable Skills? Transferring Your SFP Experience to an Industrial Internship
Aneesha Akram, from Caltech’s Career Development Center, will discuss how you can leverage the skills you have gained from your current undergraduate research experience towards future opportunities.
Sign-up: https://www.surveymonkey.com/s/CDCSFP0702

JULY 9

Using Social Media and Managing Your Online Image
They say first impressions last a lifetime and increasingly those impressions are made online. Your professional online identity says a lot about you. But do you know what it is? This workshop will examine how to establish, or re-establish, your online identity to best present your transferrable skills, knowledge, experiences, and overall professional identity.
Sign-up: https://www.surveymonkey.com/s/CDCSFP0709

JULY 16

Tell Me About Your Research: How to Talk About Your Research to Various Audiences
It is important to think about your audience when discussing your research. Different people will have different interests, curiosities, and needs, so it is key to tailor your discussion to your environment. Mandy Casani, from Caltech’s Career Development Center, will highlight approaches you can take when sharing your research with various audiences (i.e. recruiters) who are not in your specific field.
Sign-up: https://www.surveymonkey.com/s/CDCSFP0716

Co-sponsored by the Student-Faculty Programs Office and Career Development Center